

Article Processing Charge (APC)

All content published by JOURNAL PLUS EDUCATION is made freely available online.

The costs of publication - including managing production, and archiving - are paid for by article processing charges (APCs).

We aim to keep this as low as possible.

In general we expect the cost of publication to be covered by an author's institution or funder, but where appropriate we waive or reduce APCs to ensure cost is not a barrier to publication.

Some of our journals are fully funded, allowing APCs to be paid by a UAV funds.

The APC allows the journal to remain sustainable whilst keeping 100% of the content freely available.